

WHAT animal IS MOST majestic ?
JACK LOOMIS "An octopus, they can squeeze through small holes and are natural escape artists."	CHLOE TAPNIO "Butterfly."	ASHTON MABE "Lion, because the lion doesn't kill for sport. It kills when it has to."	EJ SHEMESH "Bald eagle because of its feathers and the way it flies through the sky."
LEILANI TURNER "Cats because they are very graceful and beautiful."	PATRICK SMART "The White Tiger is the most majestic animal. I think this because it is a graceful creature and is one of the best at camouflaging itself and it surrounding in its natural habitat."	COLE MACKENZIE "Whales because they are the largest creatures on earth."	LAUREN RAINBOLT "The most majestic animal would probably have to be a seahorse. I have always thought they were really mysterious and very different from any other sea creature in the ocean."

coaching VS reffing

Juniors Carter Inskeep and Dylan Boyer...

How do you become a coach/referee?

INSKEEP: "I became a coach by talking with Mrs.Hayes at the Unified Bocce Ball state tournament in the fall of 2020, when I was a junior."

BOYER: "The quickest way is through a friend (if they already are a referee): they can get you in contact with any of the field commissioners directly. If not, the CDC website has information on to contact the needed people to sign up for the fall or spring seasons."

What is your favorite part?

INSKEEP: "My favorite part about coaching and being on a time like this is going to practice to have fun and build genuine connections with people."

BOYER: "My favorite part is that the commitment is entirely up to you. Although a consistent schedule is nice in some aspects, you can choose your own hours. I like how the times I need to referee can be adjusted based on my schedule. Besides that, refereeing is really enjoyable since everything is up to the discretion of the referee. It's a position that holds a lot of respect so it's super awesome to be the figure I used to look up to when I played soccer as a kid."

What would you say to someone who was thinking about coaching/reffing?

INSKEEP: "I would say to someone who is trying to be a coach that they are the people that are motivators and want to have a connection with everyone on the team."

BOYER: "I would definitely say to go for it! Refereeing for the CDC pays very well for something that isn't too strenuous and is super fun!"
